

GATWICK AIRPORT
DETAILED MOVEMENT and NIGHT PERIOD ANALYSIS BY AIRLINE OPERATOR
FEBRUARY 2023

I append summarised details of the daily movements at Gatwick together with details of actual night period movements by airline for the month of February 2023. There are based on official Eurocontrol sources as downloaded and recorded each day online on The Original Gatwick Spotters List.

Overall Summary of Movements.

Appendix 1 shows the numbers of movements each week since June 2021. Compared to January, we can see what might be considered an unexpected material increase in movements with an average of 565 per day for the four full weeks and, in fact, 621 and 603 movements per day in the final two weeks compared to 500 in January (and we previously noted that there were only 449 per day in the final week of January). This might be counter-intuitive to general concerns elsewhere about recession and inflation.

Appendix 2 shows a daily movement count for each airline. In comparison with January, apart from a significant return to activity by EasyJet and other low-cost regulars following a downturn in late January/early February. There are few other changes of note. There was one new carrier in the month - Badr Airlines from the Sudan, operating twice weekly from Khartoum. Tunisair are also back to two flights a week after seemingly suspending them in mid-January. And while we anticipated a reduction in the ad hoc charter carriers, Titan and Jet2, this has not occurred. The Midlands-based Jet2 is the airline currently being praised in surveys as being the best of the UK-based low-cost carriers but it is as yet unclear if they will be operating regular Gatwick flights in the summer season.

No material changes to long-haul in February; although at the beginning of March, JetBlue reduced their services from 3 a day to 2 – having moved their third service to Heathrow.

March is the final month for the winter schedules and it will be interesting to see the extent of the additional and returning services once we get into April.

Analysis of Night Period Flights

Appendix 3 below provides details of all movements by airline and time during the Night Period from 2300 to 0659.

In the period from 2300 to 0659; the hourly figures (half-hourly wef 0500) were as follows (January 2023 in brackets):

|           | Landings  | Take-offs |
|-----------|-----------|-----------|
| 2300-2359 | 287 (231) | 8 (19)    |
| 0000-0059 | 61 (66)   | 2 (4)     |
| 0100-0159 | 60 (53)   | 0 (0)     |
| 0200-0259 | 13 (19)   | 0 (0)     |
| 0300-0359 | 7 (12)    | 0 (0)     |
| 0400-0459 | 11 (9)    | 1 (0)     |
| 0500-0529 | 33 (43)   | 0 (0)     |
| 0530-0559 | 48 (46)   | 10 (16)   |
| 0600-0629 | 50 (48)   | 177 (168) |
| 0630-0659 | 70 (75)   | 249 (264) |

With the increase in movements generally, there has also been, perhaps inevitably, an increase in night period movements over January. In total, the number of night period landings in February were 640 (January was 602) – an average of 22.9 per night as against 19.4 per night in January. As before, most of the early morning arrivals are accounted for by long-haul airlines operating overnight. And again, as noted previously, a high proportion pro rata of landings in the 'small hours' remains attributed to WizzAir. Equally, the generally calmer weather will have been a factor in ensuring more operations kept to schedule.

As regards night period take-offs, in February 2023 there were 447 in aggregate, broadly on a par with January at 471 with very few late at night and the overwhelming majority being the post 0600 (mainly) EasyJet rush.
